

FOE VIOLATES TRUCE TERMS, ALLIES DECLARE

Armistice Broken by Sinking of German Fleet and Burning of French Flags, Big Three Holds

Berlin Warned Against Repetition of Acts—Reparation for Loss of Ships Will Be Demanded

PARIS.—"Sinking of the German fleet (in Scapa Flow) is not only a violation of the armistice, but can only be regarded as a deliberate breach in advance of the conditions of peace," the allied powers declared in the note forwarded to Germany Wednesday. The same was also said to be true to the burning of French battle flags in Germany.

"It is evident that any repetition of acts like those must have a very unfortunate effect upon the future operation of the treaty which the Germans are about to sign," the note said. Notice was given that the allies would demand reparation for the sinking and trial of those responsible.

The note follows:
"The terms of the armistice signed by Germany on November 11, 1918, provided as follows:

"Article XXIII—the German surface warships which shall be specified by the allies and the United States shall forthwith be disarmed and thereafter interned in neutral ports, or, failing them, in the allied ports designated by the allies and the United States, only care and maintenance parties being left on board."

SINKING OF FLEET.
"On June 21, the German warships which had been handed over to the allies and associated powers and were at anchor in the roadstead at Scapa Flow, with the German officers and maintenance parties on board, were sunk by these parties, under the orders of the German admiral in command. According to information which has been collected and transmitted by the British admiralty, the German admiral has alleged that he acted in the belief the armistice expired on June 21, at mid-day, and consequently in his opinion, the destruction in question was no violation of its terms.

"In law, Germany, by signing the terms of the armistice set out above, entered into an understanding that the ships should remain in the ports indicated under such orders as would insure that the armistice should be observed.

There was a parade from the train, luncheon at the exposition grounds and an afternoon meeting in the Coliseum. Each bishop will make a "rapid-fire" one-minute address. Music will be furnished by a chorus made up exclusively of ministers.

Thursday has also been designated as "Pennsylvania Day," "Unit Workers' Day" and "Movie Day."

The dirigible A-4 which was scheduled to arrive at the exposition Thursday morning, will not come until Friday.

Second Month Of Dry Spell Opens

Thursday started the second month of the dry spell in Lima, with affairs running in the even tenor of their numerous and divers ways.

Some of the old stand-patters are daily lamenting the course of events, but restaurant keepers are satisfied with coffee drinking stimulated to a marked degree.

Lactucarium imbibers have not struck to market yet, but when they do they will find a hypnotic influence in the insipid juice of the common lettuce, but the practice is not expected to become prevalent.

Certain soft drink marts have prohibition "hot-stuff" available to relieve, or rather offer a kick, to the habitual drinker. The unadulterated juice of the common little red pepper, when dashed in a glass of near-beer is said to offer a taste in the mouth and throat not uncommon to the tongue-biting high proof liquor.

This is the day of the soda-pop and grape juice. It is claimed that William J. Bryan is the most unpopular man in the country today.

CROWN PRINCE ESCAPES; RETURNS TO GERMANY

SEES CHALLENGE OF U. S. SINCERITY IN IRELAND FIGHT

Senator Walsh Flays American Peace Envoys for Ignoring Freedom's Call

Failure to Request Irish Hearing Brings Heated Debate in Senate

WASHINGTON. — With "President" de Valera of the "Irish Republic" in America promoting the cause of Irish independence and Irish delegates still cooling their heels at the door of the Paris peace conference, America's relation to this issue of ominous import became the subject of heated debate in the senate.

Senator McCormick of Illinois took the American peace delegation to task for failing to comply with and ignoring the senate resolution of June 6 requesting the president to procure a hearing for the Irish representatives.

SINCERITY CHALLENGED.
Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, Democrat, asserted that if the American delegation failed to ask a hearing of the Irish representatives by the peace conference American sincerity or belief in the president's principle of self-determination would be challenged.

Senator Borah, author of the senate resolution, charged that the self-determination principle had been sacrificed to the imperialistic ambitions of European nations.

"I say it with the utmost sincerity that the treaty of peace is a guarantee of war," exclaimed Borah in the heat of the discussion.

THOMAS STARTS DEBATE.
The debate began when Senator Thomas of Colorado read to the senate a copy of a letter he had written in reply to criticisms expressed by some of his constituents of his attitude on the Irish resolution. Senator Thomas' contention was that the conference could not properly give the Irish delegation a hearing because it did not represent an independent nation.

MORMONS NOT AFRAID OF VILLA

Refuse to Run When Attacked By the Bandits in Mexico

EL PASO, Tex. — The Chinese and Americans are on the same basis down here," said one of the Mormon elders, "but the Chinese have gone and it's our turn next. We're used to it, however."

The Chinese left as soon as they heard that Villa's band had been defeated at Villa Ahumada, about 90 miles to the east, and split, one band of them coming west.

Three weeks ago about 21 Villistas rode in and started to shoot up the Chinese places. The celestials barricaded themselves behind bags of coffee and flour in the biggest store and answered shot for shot. The Villistas threw one of their horsehide and dynamite bombs on the roof. It did little damage, but it had the effect of putting two Chinese upon the roof to snipe the bombers.

FIERCE BATTLE.
It was a long fight and honors were even. Nobody was hit on either side.

The Mormons are peaceful but unafraid. They will not run from Villa. They couldn't run if they wanted to. Besides, they believe that American citizens should not be obliged to run from a bandit; that Americans should be protected by their government, no matter where they are.

NITTI CONSTRUCTS GOVERNMENT BASED ON IDEAS THAT OVERTHREW ORLANDO

Francesco Nitti, premier and minister of foreign affairs in the new Italian cabinet, appears to have constructed a government based on the very ideas which overthrew Orlando and his cabinet. It was only six months ago that Nitti resigned as minister of the treasury, denouncing the extreme demands of the Italian delegation at Paris. The new Italian government appears to be as friendly to France and England as the government which has just fallen.

SNOOK TO SPEAK 800 MILLION BILL TO SUPPLY ARMY PASSES SENATE

Measure Calls For Personnel of 400,000 for Next Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON.—Without a dissenting voice the senate passed the $885,000,000 army appropriation bill providing the money for an army of 400,000 for the next fiscal year.

The house bill carries only $718,000,000 and makes provision for an army of only 300,000 men. Indications are that sharp controversy will arise between the two houses in the adjustment of this difference.

The house conferees will oppose the acceptance of the chief amendments made by the senate. These include not only the increase of the size of the army, but also the increase in the appropriation for aviation from $15,000,000 to $35,000,000 and the modification of the provision prohibiting the war department from making further purchases of real estate without express authority of congress.

KAHN GIVES VIEWS.
Representative Kahn of California, chairman of the house military affairs committee, expressed himself emphatically on these three points today.

"The first thing we shall attempt to do will be to determine the size of the average army needed for the coming fiscal year," said Mr. Kahn. "The house appropriated for 300,000, and the senate for 400,000. I know that the house is strongly opposed to the larger figure, and I do not see our way clear to accept the senate figure."

PLAN LEGION.
A Lima chapter of the American Legion was planned at a meeting of returned soldiers at Memorial Hall Wednesday night. J. A. Wanamaker and J. T. Priddy addressed the uniformed men, but a second meeting will soon be held, as the weather kept the attendance low at the first meeting.

Friedrich Wilhelm Hohenzollern Quits Hiding in Holland and Goes Back to His Own Country

Believed Included in List to be Tried for War Crimes—Hinted He May Head Growing Royalist Faction

PARIS.—Friedrich Wilhelm Hohenzollern, former German crown prince, has escaped from Holland into Germany, the big three were advised Thursday.

The former crown prince remained with the German armies for some time after the kaiser's abdication on November 9. He later made his way to the Dutch border and was temporarily interned at Maastricht. He left for Maastricht, a little fishing village on the island of Wieringen, near the Dutch naval station at Helder, November 21. He had remained there, with only occasional visits to the mainland, ever since.

The former crown prince was accompanied by a staff officer, the report said.

The belief has prevailed in some quarters that Friedrich Wilhelm's name will be included in the list of those accused of war crimes which the allies will present to Germany after peace is signed, with a request they be turned over for trial by an international tribunal.

Recent reports from Germany indicate the royalist faction is gaining strength. A note was recently sent to the Dutch government by the German Officers' Association, demanding that Holland refuse the allies' request for extradition of the former kaiser. Several incipient movements for restoration of the monarchy have been reported in the Rhine provinces, which have always been particularly loyal to the Hohenzollerns.

SIGN PACT SATURDAY

PARIS.—The peace treaty will be signed at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, it was learned from trustworthy sources Thursday.

It was further learned unofficially that Foreign Minister Mueller, Herr Giesberts and Herr Leinert had been appointed to sign for Germany.

They will arrive in Versailles Saturday morning, it was said.

(Hermann Mueller is the new German foreign minister. Johann Giesberts was minister of posts and telegraphs in the Scheidemann ministry, and was a member of the foreign peace delegation. Leinert also was a member of the former commission.)

The German government was still unable to obtain a delegation to sign it, according to the latest advices. A wireless dispatch to Secretary Von Haniel at Versailles, notified him that Chancellor Bauer, Foreign Minister Mueller, and former Premier Scheidemann had all failed to organize a new peace commission. It was reported at the same time that three members of the recent Scheidemann cabinet had accepted tentatively.

ENCOUNTER DIFFICULTIES.
A later message to Von Haniel to local movements of resistance to establishment of Polish authority in the territories allotted to Poland in 1918 and in east and west Prussia, and to the occupation of upper Silesia by the allied and associated powers. In view of this information, the allied and associated powers think it necessary to inform the German government that they will hold it strictly responsible for seeing that, at the time indicated in the treaty, all troops and all officials indicated by the allied commission are withdrawn and that in the event of local disturbances in resistance to the treaty no support or assistance to the insurgents are allowed to pass the new frontier into Poland.

GERMANY WARNED

PARIS.—The allied note holding Germany responsible for any movement against Poland after peace is signed, dispatched Wednesday, was made public Thursday. It said:

"The allied and associated powers feel it is necessary to direct the attention of the German government to the fact that the Polish authorities have come into possession of the attached official German dispatch which states that while the German government means to sign the peace, it intends to give unofficial support to local movements of resistance to establishment of Polish authority in the territories allotted to Poland in 1918 and in east and west Prussia, and to the occupation of upper Silesia by the allied and associated powers. In view of this information, the allied and associated powers think it necessary to inform the German government that they will hold it strictly responsible for seeing that, at the time indicated in the treaty, all troops and all officials indicated by the allied commission are withdrawn and that in the event of local disturbances in resistance to the treaty no support or assistance to the insurgents are allowed to pass the new frontier into Poland.

"The telegram referred to in the foregoing letters follows:

"Posen, June 23, 1919.

"The government will sign. Nevertheless, Sorsing will proclaim for Silesia Wig for western and eastern Prussia, war against the east. The government will officially declare its opposition, but will unofficially support the action by every means. Sorsing has telegraphed today: "Send my large parcel to Breslau."

SEWER BIDS ARE BELOW ESTIMATE ON BIG CONTRACT

Board of Control Checking Tenders and Will Make Award Soon

Tabulation of the three bids received on the Collet Street Relief Sewer construction was concluded by City Engineer Vaughn Miller, and S. G. Harger, of the Fuller-McClintock Engineer company, Wednesday night, and showed two of the bids so close that a check was made to verify all figures.

The original estimate of the cost was made at $575,348. The following figures on monolithic concrete construction, direct bid, were shown: John W. Farley Company $672,757.75; Welling and Franz, Cincinnati, $579,479.04; Mereno and Burkham, St. Louis, $713,476.25.

This shows Welling and Franz bidding a trifle over $4,000 more than the engineer's estimate, which is considered exceptionally close on a half million dollar job.

On the alternate bids, that of the vitrified segment block in tunnel work, shows the following bids: Farley, $550,888.75; Welling and Franz, $551,499.04; Mereno and Burkham, $620,973.50.

The bid of Farley and company on this type of construction was the low bid on the work, being only $50.29 below Welling and Franz' bid.

Vitrified block, on which the low bid of the work was received, is similar in material to the customary sewer pipe, being cast in segments of interlocking type.

The question which confronts the Board of Control now is whether the monolithic form of construction is $28,599.29 better than the vitrified segment block construction.

Service director A. L. McNeany stated that it would require some time to check the bids, and go over the entire work, before awarding the contract. The board of control reserves 30 days before it is necessary to award the contract or reject the bids.

George Fuller, of the Engineering firm which made the plans, is expected in the city today or tomorrow and his advice will be asked by the board before any action is taken.

"I do not think there is any doubt," said service director A. L. McNeany, "that that the contract will be awarded to the low bidder. While we have never had any of the vitrified segment block used in Lima some people prefer it to the monolithic concrete. We want only enough time to check the bids and work, but I am of the opinion the low bidder will be awarded the contract."

RIOT STARTED BY HIGHER CAR FARE

Toledo Workers Refuse to Pay and Hurt Stones at Trolleys

TOLEDO, Ohio.—Police here are preparing to handle any situation growing out of the Toledo Railways and Light company's new fare schedule of six cents, with two cents for transfers, following the stoning of cars and an attempt to burn one car near the Toledo Shipbuilding plant on Wednesday afternoon.

Seventeen street cars were tied up when the workers boarded the cars in front of the plant and refused to pay the new fare. Several workers took charge of one of the cars and ran it down the street. Company officials at last turned off the power. The men then tried to upset the car. Falling in this, they wrecked it and then set fire to the trolley. Service was not restored until two hours later.

Car riders probably will pay the new fare until next Tuesday at least. Council's action on Monday night went no further than to name a committee to "see what can be done."

SMITH'S IN LEAD

More of This Name Appear in Police Court

Smith, Brown and Jones take the prize for monopolizing police records.

Since January 1, 1918, the name Smith appears more than 75 times, Brown comes next with more than 40 to its credit, while Jones is the third in line with 37.

"Do they give assumed names?" Desk Sergeant Eberle spoke, "Yes, and of course they pick on the most common. I guess that Smith takes the prize for that."

Drunkenness holds sway on the records, leading in the number of arrests. However, since the prohibition law has gone into effect, this charge has become an oddity.

WEDDING HELD DESPITE WAIL OF SCORNED WOMAN

Disappointed Girl Makes Scene in Chicago Clerk's Office

Doff's nuptial day was temporarily marred by the angry soprano of a disappointed woman with a grievance. She taxied across the corridor of the county building with all the detritus of the NC4 and proceeded to go up in the air the minute she reached the desk of Chief Deputy Clerk John H. Mack.

"I want you to stop the marriage of the Doll and Louis Grossman," she demanded, registering a perfect "F" sharp. "He can't marry her, for he has been engaged to me for ten years. Get busy now and do what I say, or you will suffer."

Mack assured the complainant, who is Miss Pauline Kaskel of 4205 Sherman road, that there was nothing he could do.

Thereupon Miss Kaskel spoke anathematic words of wrath and hurled from the office with blood in her eye and threats on her lips. Home she sped and was seen no more. When a reporter ventured to gain an audience he could get no nearer than a speaking tube, which repeatedly shrieked—"There's nobody home! There's nobody home!"

Not so at the residence of Mr. Doff, who was formerly chief deputy balliff of the Municipal court. Here the bridegroom postponed the dawning of the ceremonial glad rags long enough to deny ever promising to marry Miss Kaskel.

"I was introduced to this girl by a school teacher," he explained. "I have never gone out with her, never written her, never called her 'dearie' or 'honey bunch,' never even bought her an ice cream soda—and yet she has been in love with me for twelve years."

Ike affirmed that his conversation with the lady was confined to a casual "How'd 'y do" when she chanced to cross his path.

Thereupon he switched the subject to Miss Grossman.

"She's the prettiest, sweetest girl in the world," he boasted, and produced a decanter of bewhiskered liquid to emphasize the statement.

At his bride's parents' home, 1233 North Hoyne avenue, Ike's nuptial day resumed its romantic melody.

VALERA SILENT ON HIS ELUDING ENGLISH GUARDS

Rumors of Seaplane And Yacht Fail to Draw Irishman's Story

NEW YORK—Still maintaining silence on how he managed to escape from Ireland, Eamonn De Valera, president of the "Irish Republic," today held a succession of receptions in the Waldorf Astoria.

De Valera was brimful of praise for Ireland, for her patience, for the plans for freedom, but he only smiled when asked to tell how he had escaped or where he had landed in this country.

Rumors had it that he had managed to get away from England by using a seaplane which had conveyed him to a waiting yacht in an unnamed river. In this way, said the rumor, the Irish president had outwitted British army and navy officers. He would give no aid to any guessers who wanted to know the truth.

CONFIDENT OF WELCOME

When asked whether he was confident he would not be molested over here, the Irishman said:

"The Americans are in spirit like the Irish. I have the utmost confidence in the principles actuating the American people, and therefore do not anticipate that the government here will hinder me."

"In 1917," said De Valera, "the British made twenty-six million pounds sterling or more in taxes from Ireland. It certainly was no less, because they themselves were putting the best figures on the books for obvious reasons."

"The cost of governing Ireland was exactly thirteen million pounds sterling, and most of that went to keep the country in subjection, for a large police force, etc. As against this, liberty in Switzerland cost 20 shillings per head per year, in Serbia it cost 23 shillings, in Bulgarian 26 shillings, in Portugal 58 shillings, in Norway 82, while Ireland, for subjection and corruption, paid 160 shillings per head."

"It is a mistake," he said, "to suppose that all the Protestants of Ireland are opposed to a republic. Such is certainly not the case."

In answer to a query as to whether England was not improving matters for Ireland, De Valera said:

"England is making matters worse, not better."

A special committee, headed by Justice Daniel F. Cohan, conferred tonight with De Valera to plan with him an itinerary for this country.

Tomorrow night the Irish leader will attend the Carmelite priory, 338 east Twenty-ninth street, where he will distribute the school prizes to the pupils of the institution.

An Internal Treatment For Piles (Hemorrhoids)

Gives absolute relief from all pain and suffering. Has never failed. Guaranteed.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was no remedy for their case. Go to your druggist and get an original bottle of Miro Pile remedy, the discovery of a clever Ohio chemist, that taken internally, passes unchanged through the stomach and intestines, and thus reaches the source of the trouble where, by its soothing, healing, antiseptic action, it first relays and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles causes them to heal and disappear for ever.

It's positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two or three days, even in cases that have resisted all previously known treatments. Really wonderful results have been accomplished. It is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.

Just read what Mr. F. M. Smith of 2312 Broadway, Lorain, Ohio, says: "I gladly recommend Miro Pile Remedy for Piles. There is no equal to it. I suffered for 18 years and tried everything that was recommended. I declared for years and was a constant sufferer with bleeding piles. I took two bottles of Miro and was entirely cured. Any sufferer using it will never regret it."

All pharmacists dispense Miro or can get it for you on short notice. Surely it is worth the little trouble to obtain to be rid of piles forever.

IMPORTANT—What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. Hunter's Drug Stores.

"Sailors" wearing the prescribed uniform are soliciting aid from citizens stating that they have been released from service without sufficient funds to defray their expenses home.

The communication states that men are discharged with enormous money and travel pay to insure their return to their homes.

When a Girl Marries

By ANN LISLE

"Anne, where's the money we owe Neal?" Jim demanded over his coffee cup on the morning after my brother's return.

"You'd say it was just like a woman if I told you where I had it hidden," I temporized, watching Neal's flushed, uneasy face.

"Go get it," ordered Jim. Or better still, I'll write you a check for the amount plus the interest. That'll stake you until you land a job, young fellow. Unless you've changed your mind about Harrison and West?"

"No, thank you," replied Neal, his voice reflecting some of the misery of his face.

Jim went across to the desk and busied himself with his check book. After a minute he turned with a yellow oblong of paper in his hand.

"Here you are, Neal—and now you can keep your little head, Anne, or get some do-dads with it. You could use a new frock, I imagine."

"Thank you," I said, wondering why Jim's generosity left me so cold.

Neal took the check gingerly between stiff fingers. As he cast his eyes over it, his face became a shade that matched his hair.

No, you don't! Noisiree, you don't!" he cried suddenly in a strangled voice. The check doesn't go. Jim. If you want to—fling back the money I paid for my lodgings, I suppose I'll have to take it because I'm so darn near broke. But you can't add any twenty-five dollars."

"Interest!" smiled Jim largely.

Neal took the paper between his fingers and there was a tiny ripping sound, but it stopped in a second, for Jim caught Neal's wrists in his hands, crying:

"No you don't! Don't be a fool, Neal. There are some things that are too darn insulting. Hanging up a receiver on a man, tearing his check for instance. Don't pull either of those on me; they're as bad as a box on the ear. I'll write another check, if you insist. But you let me do the tearing up."

Neal complied; but a strange glitter had come into his eyes, and it didn't fade. Jim took the check tore off his signature, minced it thoroughly, and then applied his fountain pen to his checkbook again. When finished writing, he looked up and addressed me:

"Anne, I'm signing the lease on our new apartment this noon. Meet me at the Walgrave at six, and I'll take you up and show you over the place. Cosby'll join us there, as he's looking over his own diggings, and we'll take him to dinner and a show."

"You're not going to sign the lease before I've seen the apartment?" I gasped, and as I spoke I noticed how Neal's eyes were fairly glued to Jim's face.

"Why not? It's just right, I tell you. Good neighborhood, handsome building, altogether stunning little place I've picked out. I don't see where your kick comes in. Not every woman jumps from a two-room sublet she's been whining to get out of right into a seven-room and two-bath apartment. I might be the one to kick—over the rental."

"That's just it, Jim," I protested hopefully. "Maybe I could get more for the same money. And, besides, hat and coat, turned a white, hurt face as he lunged a sentence at me. a woman always loves to pick out her own wall papers and look over the plumbing and the linen closet and the kitchen stove.

"The walls are tinted. And you'll have a cook."

Jim's tone disposed a trifle scornfully of my pleas unsophisticated, and I couldn't belittle myself before Neal by fighting for my rights in the matter of closet room and refrigerators. So I agreed a little shakily.

"Then I'm to meet you at the Walgrave at six?"

"That's it," said Jim, and handing Neal his check, he departed blithely.

"Jim likes to have his own way," commented Neal, crumpling the check carelessly into his wallet.

"All the Harrisons do," I replied, mechanically pouring myself another cup of coffee and sipping almost distastefully the black stuff.

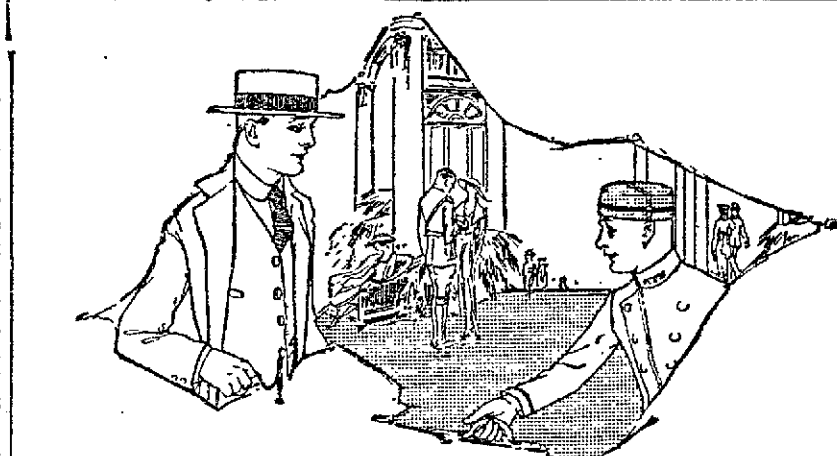

"Yes," replied Neal tensely. "Guess I'll have to avoid folks who have such a way of boxing a fellow's ears."

"Then you haven't forgotten how Phoebe?"

"Struck me across the face when I tried to kiss and make up?" asked Neal, bitterly. "No, and I won't in a hurry. I'm through with her—and with your Jim, flinging me money and the offer of employment, but never thinking of including me in his dinner tonight."

"Neal, he never thought!" I cried, repeating Neal's phrase with changed emphasis.

"No," began Neal, and seizing his

AUTOCRACY IS DOOMED BY SIGNING OF THE PACT

War's History Traces Rising Menace of Militarism and Its Overthrow—Growth of Realpolitik and Its Failure in the World

Germany's final surrender, in signing the Peace Treaty will officially end the greatest war in modern history which Germany began for world dominion on July 28, 1914.

The total of dead in that war is 7,000,000; the total of seriously wounded is 20,000,000.

The armistice was signed last November. It lasted longer than seven months, with renewals and extensions on Dec. 13, and Jan. 16. It ended June 23.

Germany then asked more delay and new concessions. But any possibility of their being granted was destroyed German trickery in sinking the surrendered fleet at Scapa Flow, Saturday.

Premier Clemenceau, speaking for allied and associated nations, sent back word that "time for discussion has passed."

TOLD TO SIGN AT ONCE.
Germany was told it must sign at once, without qualification or reservation, the final Peace Treaty, the first form of which was handed to the German peace delegates on May 7.

Germany at once replied that it would sign on Wednesday.

Germany's acceptance of the original armistice was a virtual surrender. The armies did not surrender, but they surrendered their arms, and with it the power to make war.

German documents published since then show that the German government's appeal for an armistice was made at the demand of German generals in the field. German armies were in immediate danger of complete disaster, and no longer could continue to resist the American and Allied forces under Marshal Foch.

The story of the four years of war, viewed now in perspective, is a simple story which can be briefly told.

GERMANY'S CHANCE
Germany's chance for a quick victory lasted only during first five weeks. It ended when the French army, under Joffre, outguessed and outthought the German, throwing them back at the battle of Marne, September 6 to 10, 1914.

That upset the whole enemy plan of war, which was first to overwhelm France with Belgium, and then throw all forces into the east to overwhelm Russia. After that, one at a time, they were to crush Serbia, Italy, England, or any other nation which dared resist the demands of Germany.

The Marne battle was followed by a period which lasted until late in March, 1915.

During those three years of warfare Germany sought desperately to overcome the handicap of its initial defeat. To win, it had to destroy the resistance of encircling enemies, bring its own strength would be exhausted. All which happened in those three years is detail, even events so great as the campaigns which defeated Russia.

CLIMAX OF WAR IN 1918.
Germany won battle after battle, and campaign after campaign, but all of these successes were not sufficient to have the effect Germany had to achieve to escape final defeat. The last chance was when Germany gathered up its last strength accumulated in the winter of 1918. These resources included the armies and guns Germany was able to withdraw from Russia. All were thrown against the western front in a final gamble, on March 21, 1918.

German armies broke thru and drove the allied armies back to Amiens.

This was the climax of the war. Germany lacked the strength to follow up this advantage immediately. Its subsequent attacks during the spring and summer were made with dwindling strength. The strength of allied armies was growing meanwhile, under a united command which included the rapidly increasing armies from the United States.

U. S. ARMIES INTO BREACH
America's armies were sent to France with such speed that Foch was able to abandon his intention to wait until this spring to administer the final defeat to the armies of Germany.

July 15, Germany began its fifth and final drive of the campaign, aiming toward Paris. That's when the Americans counter-attacked at Chateau Thierry.

July 18, the allied counter-offensive, intended for the next spring, was launched. It did not cease until the armistice was signed, and the enemy did not regain the initiative after the allied counter-offensive started.

Soon, knowledge that its last chance of final victory was lost began to seep thru the German armies and also thru the civil population of Germany.

BLASTED GERMAN MORALE
German morale took the down hill. Enemy generals saw they no longer had a chance to fight a defensive war such as the allied armies had fought for four years. Their whole line might collapse at any time, and certainly would collapse quickly.

Then it was they notified their government that an armistice must be obtained without delay. The same thing already had happened in the German navy. One battle had been fought in the North Sea. The British fleet had lost the most ships. But this battle demonstrated that any final test of strength at sea must result in complete defeat for Germany.

Announcement of plans to send the fleet out again resulted in mutiny, and finally in ignominious surrender. The enemy had no stomach for such desperate, losing adventure as the last fight of the Spanish fleet when it came out from Santiago and was destroyed by American battleships in 1898.

"REALPOLITIK" FAILED
Germany's failure in warfare was no greater than the failure of its theory of "realpolitik."

This is the notion that the source of every political action is material. It led them to believe that Belgium would not resist; that Italy would remain neutral because offered more than she could hope to win by war, and that England would not help France, or keep its agreement to defend Belgium.

Germany imagined America would not fight, since it had no material advantage to gain by entering the war against Germany. That was the crowning blunder of all the long series of German blunders which preceded America's entrance in the war on April 6, 1917.

Germany was utterly unable to comprehend the spirit which kept the allied nations firm for four years in what seemed a losing fight, and was unable to match this spirit when forced to take the defensive after July, 1918.

Early neutral chronologies of the war dated its start from the murder at Sarajevo of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, on June 28, 1914.

POTSDAM CONFERENCE
Now it is known that war had its source not in international misunderstandings, but in the decision for war reached by the Kaiser and his advisers at Potsdam, July 5.

The steps which put this decision into effect were the Austro-Hungarian ultimatum to Serbia on June 23, followed by a declaration of war against Serbia, July 28; Germany's declaration of war against Russia, and invasion of Luxembourg, Aug. 1; its ultimatum to Belgium, Aug. 2; and its declaration of war against France, Aug. 3.

Premier Clemenceau of France fixed this beginning of the war clearly, when he spoke to the allied nations and the United States, in his reply to Germany, a week ago, on June 17.

"As soon as their preparations were complete," said Clemenceau, "they encouraged a subservient ally to declare war on Serbia, on a 48-hour notice, a war involving control of the Balkans, which they knew could not be localized and which was bound to mean a general war."

"In order to make doubly sure, they refused every attempt at conciliation and conference, until it was too late and the world war was inevitable, for which they had plotted and for which, alone among nations, they were adequately equipped and prepared."

DEMANDS GERMANY PAY

The Treaty of Peace which Germany now is compelled to sign aims to safeguard other nations from new attacks by Germany, and to make Germany repay, so far as it can, the damages it inflicted on other nations in the four years of ruthless warfare it made against them, starting July 28, 1914.

Germany must leave a wide, unfortified strip east of the Rhine. Its army is reduced to 200,000, later to be reduced to 100,000. Its air forces are to be disbanded.

It can't manufacture war materials. Its navy is reduced to 6 battleships, 6 light cruisers, 16 torpedo boats, with no submarines.

Further, it is required to recognize the full authority of the League of Nations which is made a part of the Peace Treaty.

MUST BUILD SHIPS
Germany must give up most of its merchant fleet, and manufacture a stated amount of merchant tonnage yearly for allied nations.

This is in preparation for the merchant ships it sunk by lawless submarine warfare. As reparation for French coal mines destroyed in effort to cripple France, the coal fields of the German Saar Valley are internationalized for the benefit of France. Alsace-Lorraine is restored to France.

Votes will determine how much of Schleswig goes to Holland. Poland gets parts of Upper Silesia, Posen and West Prussia, and use of the internationalized port of Danzig.

Germany renounces the treaty with the Russian Bolsheviks and all it gained thereby. It restores a small patch of German territory to Belgium and recognizes the independence of Luxembourg; also the independence of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

MUST GIVE UP KAISER

Germany loses all its colonies and naval bases throughout the world. It is required to deliver for trial by the allies all military leaders and others accused of violating laws of war, in invaded territory, by submarine, by air raids and at prison camps in Germany.

These include the Kaiser.

and Normal Sleep

Counting imaginary sheep jumping over an imaginary fence is recommended as a sleep producer and it has been tried unsuccessfully by more than one victim of anemia whose nerves were upset and stomach distressed. Strength-giving, restful sleep is impossible until the nerves have been strengthened and the nerves cannot be helped until the thin blood has been made rich and abundant.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and strengthen the nerves and by so doing make natural sleep possible. This is proved by the experience of Mrs. Mary Oberle, of No. 3911 Wetzel street, Wheeling, W. Va., who says:

"I had been feeling badly for several months and in spite of everything that I did to build up my condition grew worse and I was becoming discouraged. I was very nervous and suffered from splitting headaches and dizzy spells. Night after night I was unable to sleep though I was completely exhausted. There were severe pains in my back and limbs and I had little appetite. "One day I heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them for my case since they had helped others so much. In a short time my nerves felt stronger and gradually my strength returned and the headaches and dizzy spells disappeared. I have a good appetite now and sleep soundly and rise refreshed. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an excellent tonic and I strongly recommend them."

The amount of money Germany is required to pay in damages has not been fixed. It is to be based on the fact that the most it can pay is less than the damage it has caused the nations it attacked, and that it must pay all it can. The payment of indemnity is to be controlled by an impartial commission and the total indemnity is to be determined before May 1, 1921.

So far as the future can be foreseen, this ends the menace to liberty and democracy which for nearly 4 years had been growing steadily in Germany.

LAD DROWNS IN PARK LAKE HERE

Efforts of Companion to Save Cridersville Boy Prove In Vain

Willbur Cox, sixteen year old son of Frank G. Cox, Cridersville, was drowned while bathing in Hoover lake, in the southwest section of the city Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. He had ventured too far from the shore and became exhausted before assistance could reach him in answer to his frantic cries for help.

One companion, Walter Gould, 17, 135 1/2 south Main street, was the only witness to his struggle to reach the shore. According to the story of the Gould youth, he recognized his friend's danger and went to his rescue. He reached him as he was disappearing beneath the surface for the last time and attempted to drag him to safety. The effort proved too much for Gould who is smaller than Cox and he was forced to abandon his hold upon him to insure his own life.

Other bathers reached the scene after he had disappeared from sight and following repeated diving the body was brought to the surface. Efforts to revive the lad with a pulmotor proved unavailing after thirty minutes of work. Williams and Davis responded together with Assistant Fire Chief Eyster and several members of the Central fire station, but their combined efforts failed to resuscitate him.

According to the story of Gould, young Cox, had been visiting his sisters, Muriel and Flossie Cox, 128 1/2 west High street, and came to the abandoned stone quarry pond nearby where Gould was swimming. Cox suggested that they go to the Hoover lake. Returning to the home of his sister, Cox procured a bathing suit and returned to the lake. His death had plunged into the water.

ALLEN CO. WHEAT HARVEST IS LATE

Crop is Perfect, is Report—Rains Have Not Impaired Prospects

The largest acreage and the finest outlook for the coming wheat crop is the verdict of growers and grain dealers in this section.

"Never before," said a dealer, "has wheat shown such prospects as at the present time. Although Darke county farmers are starting to harvest their crop this section will not commence for ten days or so, but nothing can affect the quality, magnitude and harvest. While the rains have been heavy in the past few days they have not damaged the crop at all, although the wheat did not need the aid of the rains. It was a 100 per cent crop, and will prove one of the best in many years."

The hay acreage is light this season, being only about 70 per cent normal. This is about 10 per cent less than the acreage for 1918, but it is claimed that the quality is 20 per cent better than last year. The rains have improved the hay, and the density is great.

Oat heading is irregular, but it is stated that the heavy rains have improved this. A very fair crop is anticipated, although the oat acreage is light.

WIFE OF MISSING MAN ASKS COURT TO GRANT HER MEANS OF SUPPORT

F. W. Burtchlin, Allen county farmer, who has been mysteriously missing since June 16, was made defendant in a suit for alimony filed in common pleas court by his wife, Laura Burtchlin. Desertion is charged in her petition.

With the entering of this suit, Burtchlin becomes defendant in four suits recently filed. Since his disappearance judgment on four notes amounting to close to $7000 has been made against him.

The petition of his wife alleges that she is now left without support for herself or her aged mother, who has reached the age of 68 and who has been without means of support for ten years, being dependent upon her daughter for support. They were married June 16, 1900.

She avers that he is the owner of 130 acres of farm land valued at $19,500 and personal property to the amount of $8,000.

Wrinkles Has An Untimely Death

A case of mistaken identity resulted in the untimely demise of "Wrinkles" the much loved and clever English bulldog owned by Mrs. Glen C. Webb, 811 Brice avenue.

The scene of the tragedy was laid in a pig-pen near Elida, where Wrinkles was cooing and frisking with some cute little piglets of about his own size.

An irate farmer, fearing the canine was of the vicious, pork-eating variety, slipped a cartridge into his trusty rifle and dropped Wrinkles at 55 paces.

It had been the custom of Mrs. Webb to visit her uncle, Oscar Steinbaugh, near Elida, on several occasions, and Wrinkles loved the pastoral life, the green grass and new mown hay, the clear running brooks, also the little pigs.

Wrinkles had a pedigree of some length, but it did not save him from being confused with the common rabble of canine by a farmer.

WASHINGTON.—One officer and three men of the American expedition in Siberia were killed and two men were wounded when they went to the assistance of five of their comrades captured by anti-Kolchak forces on June 22, Major General William Graves cabled the war department Thursday. All killed and wounded were members of the 31st infantry, a regular army unit.

CALLED 'SMALL TOWN KID,' WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE

OAKLAND, Calif.—Alleging that Al Johnson, blackface comedian, "could not stand success," and that with success, his tastes ran strongly to wine, race horses and women," Mrs. Henrietta Johnson Thursday had on file suit for divorce. She alleges that Johnson sent her from New York last March, declaring "he loved her better 3,400 miles away."

"He tells me I'm only a small town kid anyway," she said.

Mrs. Johnson asks $3,000 a month alimony, declaring the comedians income is over $3,400 a week.

TOLD TO SMASH SMITH TAX LAW

Ohio Teachers Applaud Speech—Indorse the League of Nations

CEDAR POINT, Ohio.—Ohio State Teachers' Association in annual convention here on Wednesday night, unanimously adopted resolution indorsing league of nations and urging the senate to ratify the covenant without further amendment.

An audience of 1,000 teachers cheered Dr. D. B. Waldo, president of the Western State Normal School, of Kalamazoo, Mich., when he told them to smash the Smith one per cent tax law. The educators, he said, blamed the Smith law for low salaries.

"Smash it," declared Waldo. "Suppose there was a law in Ohio which kept down the income of lawyers. How long do you suppose the lawyers would stand for it? They'd knock it out in no time. You teachers are just as smart and just as important as the lawyers. Smash it."

EIGHT HOUR MEASURE IS KILLED BY LABOR BALLOT

MADISON, Wis.—There will be no basic eight hour day legislation at this session of the Wisconsin legislature.

By a vote of 59 to 20 the assembly killed the skogmo bill providing for a basic eight hour day with no exemptions. Attached to the bill is a clause that it be submitted to the people at the spring election in 1920. The Socialists and practically all labor leaders voted against the passage of the Skogmo bill in the lower house. They said the bill should have reasonable exemptions, and with such exemptions eliminated it was sure of defeat by the people. It was for this reason that they defeated it.

DEFIANCE IS TO HAVE A JITNEY BUS SERVICE

DEFIANCE, Ohio.—Defiance is to have a jitney bus service, covering all parts of the city. Later a street car system will be constructed. UPHOLDS DRY ACT

Circuit Court Dissolves Injunction Granted Brewers

NEW YORK.—The war-time prohibition act, under which no liquor may be sold after June 30, was upheld Thursday by the United States circuit court of appeals. The court virtually dissolved the injunction Judge Mayer granted the brewers, restraining the federal district attorney and internal revenue collector from enforcing war-time prohibition as applied to 2.75 per cent beer.

The court held the act was constitutional and Judge Mayer had no jurisdiction to enjoin the enforcement of a constitutional act. The court recommended that the district attorney hasten final determination of the issue in the highest court, and in the meantime interfere with the business of brewers as little as possible.

FRIENDLY BOUT?

He stated Thursday morning that a friendly fistie bout was in progress at his home when the interference came. MAY FILE NEW PETITION IN LOCAL DAMAGE SUIT

The demurrer in the $1000 damage suit entered in common pleas court by Cornelius C. Klumph against Benjamin and Belle Altschul was sustained by Judge Klinger and leave to file an amended petition granted.

Klumph sues for damages alleged to grow out of the collision of his auto and one driven by Mrs. Altschul at the intersection of North and Washington streets November 27, 1918. His left foot was injured, he says.

An answer to his suit filed by Mrs. Altschul alleged that he failed to heed her signal of warning.

MAY RAISE RATES

Director Hines is Considering Boost in Freight Charges

WASHINGTON.—The railroad administration is giving "serious consideration" to the question of raising freight rates again, Director General Hines told the house interstate commerce committee Thursday. He declared the administration faced a grave problem in obtaining revenues to meet deficits.

"Our deficit largely is due to a falling off in business," Hines said. "So far we do not know how much it may be cut down by a resumption of traffic. The problem of rate increases is being given serious consideration. There are two phases to the deficit problem, however, and we have reached no conclusion as to what will be necessary in solving the rate question."

WARNS CORPORATIONS

Today's Health Hints

THE OPTIMIST

"One hundred years are the limit of the life of man" observed an ancient pessimist; "night takes half of them, half of the other half is childhood and old age, the rest is filled with diseases, with separations and the misfortunes that come from them, with working for others and with wasting one's time. Where can happiness be found in an existence most like to the bubbles in broken water?" There you have as complete an exposition of the gospel of pessimism as was ever uttered. And a good dash of irony mixed.

This would indeed be a tame existence if there were no diseases. Nobody would enjoy health and health is certainly great fun.

Abe Martin

Mr. Lemmie Peters, who graduated with such high honors a few Junes ago, has finally decided that map makin' offers the best openin' for th' young man jst startin' out in life. We'd hate to be prominent an' have t' dress for th' camera ever' mornin'.

Mr. Gompers Stands Alone

NOT ONLY LABOR but the United States of America has reason to feel proud of the man who within the crucial period when the country stood on the brink of Bolshevism, threw his entire strength on the side of his country in the face of the fact that it meant, should he fail, his defeat as the head of the greatest organized Labor body in the world.

THE RE-ELECTION OF SAMUEL GOMPERS to the presidency of the American Federation of Labor is a victory of American justice, and the radical character of his opposition makes the triumph of this great, sane leader of labor all the greater. Gompers, alongside of such other leaders as the heads of the Locomotive Engineers, Trainmen, International Typographical Union, the Stereotypers Union and the Pressmen's Union of America, stood like outposts who might declare "You Shall Not Pass" when the rattle of Bolshevism was heard on this side of the water.

THE RE-ELECTION of this labor leader is a triumph for Americanism over Anarchism and shows that labor and capital, labor's leaders and the nation's leaders must continue to work side by side for better things, better education, better environment.

Ohio Farmers on Taxes

THE OHIO STATE GRANGE has adopted a new slogan "Pay your taxes, Leave Ohio, or Go to Jail." This sounds fine, but if our memory serves us well, it is usually the farmer who objects to the tax man. City tax payers seldom know what monies they are paying into the public treasury, but it is a 99 to 1 shot that there is not one farmer in Allen County who does not know what amount he must raise each June and December.

OF COURSE, THIS SLOGAN is founded on the theory of organization to complete the classification of property, and if the proposed plans go thru taxes on farms in other townships must be like those in Shawnee township, where they do not amount to soft drink money.

Secretary Baker Again

WHILE SOME OHIO enthusiasts are booming Secretary of War Baker for the presidency, now comes along an interesting probe in which the head of the War Department is charged with proceeding with a six million dollar southern pork raising project, in defiance of Congress.

IT IS CLAIMED that the Secretary purchased 115,000 acres of land for a new army site at Columbus, Georgia, which Senator Landrum, of Wisconsin charges was undertaken after the signing of the armistice. It was purchased, he says, at the instigation of southern senators and office holders, charged with promoting a graft. The Senator says that the act of the Secretary is such as to be very close to requiring an impeachment.

WHAT EFFECT THIS may have on the Ohio chances of the Secretary for the presidency is left to the people to determine. Northwestern Ohio has never leaned very heavily to the Cleveland man, and we fear that this act will not cause any added enthusiasm for his nomination from the Democrats, north-west.

them. (M. O. S.)

ANSWER—The soap is all right. The sugar will not draw boils—only flies. The cutting mixture used in machine shops is a fertile medium of spread of pus-germ infection from one man to another; boils and pimples on exposed parts of men in the shops may be prevented almost entirely by regular disinfection of the mixture. The boils should be incised by the physician and large, hot, moist dressings of gauze applied and kept moistened with a solution of about a tablespoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of citrate of soda in a pint of boiled water. This maintains drainage, gives all the relief a poultice can give, yet does not encourage pus-germ multiplication as most poultices do. The affected area should be freely exposed to direct sunlight to further discourage pus-germ life. The utmost care is necessary in handling or dressing boils, lest infection be carried on the fingers to another part of the skin, thus producing a new boil by inoculation.

The Bawling Baby

If a young baby cries very hard and very long is it liable to rupture itself? How long should a baby sleep at night without nursing? How often should a baby nurse in the daytime? Is it necessary to keep the baby's bedroom warm? (Mrs. C. McK.)

ANSWER—The baby is not likely to rupture himself crying. A baby three months old should sleep from 10 p. m. to 4 a. m. or 6 a. m. without nursing. A baby three months old should nurse about every three hours in the daytime. It is not necessary to keep the baby's bedroom warm, but see that the baby is kept comfortably warm.

OLD COIN IN TREE

LONDON—A coin of the reign of George II, dated 1730, was found by a cottager while splitting up an old tree trunk near Burnham Beeches. The coin was wedged tightly in the wood. CONFESSIONS of an EVERY DAY WIFE

BY IDAN M'GLONE GIBSON

MRS. CHARLTON'S APPEAL

"Arthur was called away on business, and before he left he sent a message saying that when Mr. Charlton divorced me he stood ready to marry me. This hurt me really more than anything else in the whole episode, because there had been no love passages between us. There was no reason why he should marry me except the talk of the people, and I feel that instead of silencing it, our marriage would confirm the impression of wrong doing. We had been just a couple of people of like tastes who danced well together, who perhaps had drifted into a chummy kind of intimacy which was perhaps indiscreet but not at all the love-making or even the flirtatious variety.

"However, my husband did not want to separate from me. Perhaps I was too valuable in conveying the messages he frequently sent to his mysterious associates. While he was still unable to get out of the house strange men, and at least two women, called on him—all in a very secretive manner. He said that he had very important business relations with them.

At last, I peremptorily refused to have anything to do with these men, for there was not one of them that had not tried to make love to me, and although I had showed my disgust they insisted upon keeping it up.

"I told my husband about it, and instead of resenting it as he had in the fancied case of Arthur's, he said that I should feel flattered that such great men found me fascinating enough to pay me any attention at all.

"All the time that I was going from place to place with messages and packages from my husband, I had a feeling that I was being watched, and I was not surprised when Major Gordon came to me one day and said that my husband was mixed up in some queer political deal in which a foreign nation was concerned and that he was about to be arrested. He said that he was telling me this for my sake as he considered that I had suffered enough.

"When I told my husband that he was liable to be arrested within the next few days, he turned black with rage and, calling me an unspeakable name, he deliberately knocked me down, saying: 'So you have betrayed me, have you?'

"I have nothing to betray," I said as I rose trembling to my feet and fell among the cushions on the divan. 'I will never know anything about you to betray,' I continued, 'for I leave you and this house today.'

"There will be no need of that," he answered, 'for I am leaving the country tomorrow. I am going to get away from you forever, and you can go to your lover or anywhere else you wish.'

"My husband did get away the next day, principally because Major Gordon made it easy for him to do so, and I never saw him afterward. During the first year of the world-war he was executed as a spy in London.

"All through this terrible time Margot, Major Gordon was wonderful to me. I rested on his goodness and sympathy as on the Everlast Arm. I do not love him with the first great passionate thrill that comes to a girl but once, but I depend upon him. Margot, Margot, feel as though I could not live without him, and since I came here have been afraid that he had gone to love you."

"Mrs. Charlton," I exclaimed, "you must realize that Major Gordon is no right to love me. I am the wife of another man."

Woman and Her Work

SOCIETY AND THE CLUBS

BY MARGARET SIMPSON

A simple, yet attractive, wedding occurred at the home of Rev. O. P. Hoffman, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, when Miss Wilma Hoover, daughter of Mrs. Charles Hoover, of west Wayne street, became the bride of Lawrence Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Allen, of south Jameson.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fitzpatrick, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

The bride wore a charming traveling suit of blue with a black picture hat. Her corsage was of sweet peas and bride's roses. Mrs. Fitzpatrick also wore a midnight blue suit.

Immediately following the ceremony the wedding dinner was served at the Allen home on south Jameson avenue. A basket of pink roses centered the table and favors were of the same. Covers were laid for the immediate families and intimate friends.

NEW AND STRIKING ARE MOIRE FROCKS

BY ELOISE

There is no use denying it or trying to conceal the fact any longer, they are here. What? Why hips, of course. They are back again in almost the same proportions that they appeared a few generations ago. They are starting in by being accentuated by small ruffles, graceful draperies, and full puffs. Some designers have gone even farther and put wired hoops over the hips and the Spanish farthingale is again a thing of reality.

This dainty and attractive moire frock has just a hint of the new hip lines. It is a golden brown shade made on rather loose lines with inverted ruffles over both hips and all the way down the sides. A delicate net collar with an odd lace edge and sleeves to match are used to finish the blouse. An artistic bit of color is added in the blue and silver ribbon which is used as a belt.

DEMPSEY GIVES KAYO ANSWERS TO CRITICS OF HIS WEIGHT

PAIR OF SHORT LEFT HOOKS TO JAW TWICE PUT OUT BIG BILL TATE WHO'S WITHIN EIGHT POUNDS OF WILLARD'S RINGSIDE WEIGHT

Jack Dempsey gave two emphatic answers to the folks who are questioning his ability to land the kayo wallop on a batter outweighing him 40 or 50 pounds.

Both answers were short but terrific left hooks to the point of the jaw of Big Bill Tate, Dempsey's giant negro sparring partner. The two jolts were landed 30 seconds apart and each sent the big fellow down for the count.

The second time he was good and out. He lay there till he was helped up and then he was dropped back in the corner against the ropes while Trainer Jimmy De Forest brought him clear to himself with the aid of smelling salts.

For Tate ranks in the fist world on a par with Tom Langford, Joe Jeannette, Harry Wells and the other great negro heavyweights. Dempsey is fighting him in their practice bouts with 15-ounce pillows on his mits.

And Jack gives his sparring partners plenty of rest between rounds for he alternates them a round at a time instead of boxing them two or three rounds in succession before taking another one on.

That gives the sparring partners five minutes between rounds while Dempsey allows himself but one minute interval in which he doesn't even rest, but does a marathon jog around the ring.

Even then big Bill's knees sagged again. He started to clamor from the ring and Jimmy kept at him a full two minutes before he got out and called it a day's work.

Big Bill Tate weighs just 227 pounds—which is within eight pounds of what Jess Willard announced he will weigh when he steps into the ring on the Fourth of July.

"I weighed exactly 245 1-2 pounds," Willard said, "and I expect to tip the beam at 245 when I enter the ring with Jack Dempsey. I weighed 229 1-2 pounds at Havana the day I won the title from Jack Johnson."

This was the first time that Dempsey has been able to slip over a knockdown blow on Bill Tate and it certainly shows the challenger to be in wonderful trim right now.

BILL DIDN'T KNOW WHAT HIT HIM.

Big Bill Tate sat on the side lines recuperating while Dempsey went on sparring with Jamaica Kid and Jock Malone—the latter a fast middleweight who's helping Jack to speed up. Dempsey works mostly on the defensive with Malone as if he would be murderous to cut loose with one of his ferocious drives against a man so much lighter.

But to get back to Bill Tate. Say he really didn't know what hit him or where he was hit by that second kayo wallop.

He had the first one placed all right. "That was a short vicious left hook to the point of the jaw," Dempsey said. "He didn't realize that the second left hook was practically a brother of the first one."

"I think he hit me with a right hand punch to the stomach," said Tate. "He shifted his feet suddenly just as I was setting myself to be hit by a swift right uppercut and that uppercut of mine never even got started."

"All of a sudden I was hit the hardest wallop I ever received in my life, and I went down. Anybody else would have gone down just as I did. It that wallop had hit him, I don't want to be Jess Willard if Dempsey lands that blow with only five-ounce gloves covering his mitt. I wouldn't swear just where Dempsey hit me but I think it was a right to the stomach."

Dempsey himself says that both kayo wallops were short left hooks to the jaw.

"ONE MORE ROUND," DEMPSEY INSISTS

This Dempsey person never gets enough battling. It's a good thing he has a trainer to call a halt and guard against the biggest danger that confronts Dempsey—which is overtraining and going stale.

If Jack had his own way he wouldn't stop as long as he had sparring partners willing and able to keep going.

But Trainer Jimmy De Forest is on the job to curb Dempsey's enthusiasm. His principal duty is to tell Jack when he had had enough.

But even then Jack sometimes takes the bit in his own mouth and refuses to quit. This happened Monday, when De Forest called a halt after Jack had mixed it up in five fast and ferocious rounds with Bill Tate, Jamaica Kid, and Jock Malone.

"Just one more round—I've to have one more," cried Dempsey. "Here you, Jock," he shouted over the ropes to Malone. "Jump in here and get busy."

Malone did and they had the extra round. Dempsey wasn't even breathing hard when the whole session of six rounds had ended.

"MILLION-DOLLAR CAPACITY," TEX ANNOUNCES

Tex Rickard now comes forward with an official capacity that the great arena will have a million-dollar capacity.

Originally, he estimated the gate receipts at between $400,000 and $500,000. But the $400,000 mark has been reached in the sales to date, according to same official announcement that tells of the million-dollar capacity.

Half-minute interval car service to the arena has been arranged for so that Tex claims 100,000 fight fans can be carried that way to Bayview Park, between 9 a. m. time of the first preliminary and 3 p. m. time of the big fight.

Lots of good seats are still to be had as well as plenty of the cheap seats.

A BUNNY BIRTHDAY FOR DEMPSEY

Thursday was Jack Dempsey's birthday, but continuation of his strenuous stunts around his training quarters made it his sparring partners and not himself who received the greetings.

The criticism of Dempsey's defense which has been so free evidently spurred him to greater effort and he used his gloves with telling effect.

Dempsey is abandoning the idea of trying to hold off his punches except for Jack Malone, the smallest of the trio. He is going in now for meat.

Those who stand in his way must feel the full force of his blows. He was a ring demon Monday and says he is going to be a ring demon henceforth.

"It's hard for me to hold a punch with my sparring partners," he

JESS ISN'T THE BIGGEST MAN THAT EVER BOXED

While Jess Willard looms up as the biggest fighter of modern times he can't claim the honor of being the heaviest man the game has produced by a long shot.

Charles Freeman, the first American to claim the world's heavyweight championship, stood seven feet three inches tall in the proverbial stocking test and he tipped the scale at the modest figure of 233 pounds. The records fail to show any other man connected with the boxing game who compares with Freeman.

Despite his great size he was very quick and could run and do flips with the rest of the athletes. He was born some place in Michigan back in 1820. When he grew up he traveled with a circus and became known as the "American Giant." It was while touring the states with this show that Ben Caunt, an English showman and himself a noted heavy-weight fighter, saw Freeman.

Caunt showed clever judgment in signing up to manage Freeman instead of arranging to tackle him. Caunt took the giant to England and sought to match him with the leading English fighters. They were all anxious to see someone else tackle him.

Finally he bobbed William Perry, known as the "Tipton Slasher," who offered to take on Freeman. It looked like suicide for Perry. When the pair entered the ring Perry was outweighed 125 pounds. He was little more than six feet tall. The fight took place between Tipton and London. It started December 8, 1842, and to the surprise of all it took Freeman 109 rounds to gain a decision. The men fought seventy rounds the first day and twelve days later finished the bout, battling thirty-nine rounds more, until Perry was disqualified for deliberately dropping to the floor to get out of the way of one of Freeman's piledriver blows.

He will be pitted against the local batsmen. Should he be able to keep the independent slugs from getting the long end of the score, he will have to be commended. From the exhibition of bat work in the last contest played by the locals, the ball will be kept flying for the remainder of the season.

Preparations are being made by the Independents, however, to forestall any attempt of the visitors to go home with the long end of the score.

Willard Very Queer Says Critic

By H. C. HAMILTON
TOLEDO.—Jess Willard's training stamps him as a very queer individual.

We have here in Toledo a world's champion pugilist, who is training without doing any road work and he says he will be in just as good shape as if he were doing lots of it every day.

That's queer spot number 1. Queer spot number 2, is Willard's temper. Easy-going, good natured Jess oftentimes flies into a half rage in the training ring and his sparring partners get some awful maulings while Jess is cooling off.

HAS TEMPER
Old timers have always made it a habit to point out that a man who loses his temper in the ring is whipped that instant, yet Jess works better when riled than when he's in his pacific mood. His blows carry more snap along with the natural steam and the terrifying look on his face never gets there until the temper is ruffled.

One sure way of bringing the champion to this condition is for one of his sparring partners to lay over a punch with some force. Walter Monaghan often reaches his boss' jaw with a hard right hander and then the gloves begin to fly. Walter is no "dog" in the ring. He's quite willing to stand and swap punches with Willard and the result often is a stiff poke in the chin for Monaghan. He never really hurts the big champion, but he does sting him and it always brings the latent fighting spirit to the fore.

DANGEROUS FIGHTER
Willard works very complacently until stung. One gets the impression, in fact, that Jess is working too slow for his own good, but the occasional flashes he shows are enough to prove to any one that he is a very dangerous man to battle.

Also the tactics of the champion lead one to wonder what will happen when Jack Dempsey smacks over one of his famous sleep producers he carries in his mitts. There is no doubt in the minds of most critics regarding Willard's ability to take anything Dempsey sends over for a time. But the force of these pile-driving blows may rouse the champion to a fury that will sweep Dempsey off his feet.

Then again the argument turns to the fast difference between Dempsey and the men who are training Willard. Walter Monaghan would not last long with Dempsey and Hempel's presence in the same ring with the challenger probably would be even more brief. Therefore, it is hard to draw a comparison between the men solely by what is shown in their training.

K. O. BILL TATE
Wednesday Dempsey again knocked out Bill Tate—this time with a right hand smash, delivered as Jack was tearing in. Tate collapsed when the glove hit his jaw and was out cold. He reached Tate with absolutely no trouble. To folks this meant merely that Jack will be able to hit Willard when they get together and that the elegant size of the champion will have no effect in keeping Dempsey away. Tate is nearly as big as Willard, he is not too big for Dempsey's whip.

Tate has been receiving punishment so regularly of late that it would not be surprising if he gave up the job. He likes Dempsey immensely and declares he would not leave the camp under any consideration, but the maulings he is getting are getting monotonous, even when they come from Dempsey.

Trainer Jimmy De Forest had cautioned Dempsey Wednesday as mauling poor Jamaica Kid. Dempsey's fists land with a positive every time he lets go of a punch. The Kid was being "slammed" about the ring. He also took a crack at Jock Malone that made a middleweight grunt and hang on.

CANT HOLD PUNCH
"He can't hold a punch," Malone complained, when he came out of the ring. "He doesn't want to hit me but that blow I took in the stomach was the hardest I ever felt."

Willard's work was very slow comparison. Only with Walter Monaghan did the champion show anything and that was very brief.

Tex Rickard said Thursday the referee question would be settled Friday and the announcement of the appointment will be made here. Son trouble has been experienced winding up details of the selection.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS:

Ping Bodie says Miller Huggins tried to make him bat like Willie Keeler. The Yankee boss probably thought it would be a pretty sight seeing Pink stretch two-baggers in to sacrifice hits.

Manager Bezdek figured Boeckel was loafing on the job and traded the Pirate third-sacker to the Braves. His loafing will hardly be noticed now.

The other day George Burns muffed an easy fly and when some fan kidded him about it, George jumped into the stand and rapped the offender. Philadelphia fans ought to be more careful, it's so easy to spot them in those empty stands.

E. J. Zavitz, provincial forester of Ontario, says that some experiments at fire detection by airplane have been made and states that it is possible that the air service will revolutionize the work of protection from forest fires.

"Rod and Gun in Canada" believes that hunting by airplane is not far off. It says: "What a radical change in the matter of transportation alone! Instead of hours of trudging over a corduroy road or bumping along a bush trail we will have a few minutes flying until a suitable landing place can be found."

"Instead of eight or nine weeks' vacation spent in traveling, the hunter of the future will be able to enjoy the full duration of his holiday."

"One of the advantages of a pleasure hunting trip by airplane will be the easy manner in which new game fields will be explored. If the old haunts prove to be a failure a few hundred miles over virgin territory will be an easy two hours' run for the sportsman fortunate in the possession of wings."

"The advent of the airplane in the commercial and sporting life of Canada opens up a field of noted possibilities."

Since Cravath of the Phillies has joined the 400 set one will have to drop that Garry stuff and refer to the Quaker as Clifford.

Low Malone, The Robins' third man, who was taken out of the batting order recently because of his failure to bang out base hits with any fair degree of consistency, is back in the Robins' infield again and on the first day of his return in the fourth inning of the first game against the Braves in Boston he made one of the longest hits ever made in the Braves' spacious park. Malone caught one of Al Demaree's curves and drove the ball to the scoreboard in deep left center. Before the ball was returned to the infield Law had reached third safely. There were two out and nobody on when the long hit was made and Malone was left stranded when Mack Wheat lifted a fly to Ray Powell.

George Sisler's play at first base furnishes some odd ones often because of the speed with which his mind and body co-ordinate, but a play he pulled in the recent St. Louis-Washington series probably climaxed any stunt he ever pulled. Foster was on first with one down in the eighth inning when Milan smashed a hard bouncer between first and second. Sisler knocked the ball down about twenty feet inside first-base, with his glove hand and deflected it toward second base. Bronkie was coming over from his position near second to back up a possible play. The ball bounded from Sisler's glove, bounced high into Bronkie's hands.

Sisler did not know that Bronkie had the ball, but his mind told him that if he did then there was a possible chance for a play at first base. Without turning to watch the ball and not knowing where it might be, Sisler dashed to his station, whirled about, and took a quick toss from Bronkie, who himself was no slouch in the performance.

The fleet Milan, and he can go down to first as fast as any of them, was caught by a step. The play was so smooth and neat that the spectators hardly realized the perfect mental mechanism and physical skill that operated to make it.

Joe Harris, Indian first-sacker, has just been discharged from the army and Doc Johnston is hitting around the .340 mark for Fohl. This question of the unemployed is surely getting serious.

STANDARD HOUSE IS ADVOCATED IN BUILDING HOMES

Architect Urges Quality Production of Small Structures

NEW YORK. — A ready-made house, Grosvenor Atterbury believes, will make it easier for the average man to establish a real home.

He says a house can be put together out of 95 standardized pieces instead of 75,000 bricks, or hundreds of boards, reducing costs 30 per cent.

He holds it absurd that men go on having their houses "made to order" in a hand-me-down age, when trade in every commodity except houses economically produces whatever suits the popular demand.

BACK FROM FRANCE

Atterbury, New York architect, recently returned from a survey of problems of reconstruction in France. He belongs to the New York Tenement Commission, board of directors of the National Housing Association, and National City Planning Institute. He was a member of the Army Educational Commission and French Council of Architects and Engineers for Study of Reconstruction.

"We have come to the ready-made period in all commodities, and housing is a commodity. Why engage many mechanics to lay 60,000 bricks when one crane will assemble 100 blocks into a more satisfactory house?"

"If we are to have government aid it should not be in the form of a subsidy—the loan of capital below the market rates—but a department to study the housing problem, evolve more economic methods of production, and supply standards of patterns."

HOUSING BY WHOLESALE

"This would give private enterprise a chance to make a profit in supplying wholesale housing for people of moderate means, just as the departments of mines and agriculture have helped farmers and mine owners."

Atterbury says that fabricated houses have already been assembled at the rate of one in three days, principally of concrete, for employees of a large manufacturing concern in Ohio. He foresees a time when men will order their houses from samples.

Atterbury calls the modern office building true economy in construction, and urges that skyscraper sense be applied to erecting homes.

HOME BUILDING LEADS

"By far the greatest sum spent in this country normally is in domestic work," he says, "and principally in the workingman's home, either cottage or tenement. Two and a half billions is the rough estimate of our normal annual budget for home building."

"Why, then, do we fail to solve the problem of small houses on a commercial basis, when our great office buildings, factories, hotels and apartments keep pace with the public needs?"

"I am convinced that we shall make no substantial progress until we apply to the house the same principles of standardization, machine, factory and quantitative production, that are employed by all our great industries."

$100 A MINUTE DECLINED FOR APPEARANCE OF JACK DEMPSEY IN THIS CITY

An offer to Tex Rickard of $100 a minute to bring Jack Dempsey to Lima Monday night and merely introduce him before the Rotary club's dinner guests, was refused by Rickard in a telegram this morning stating he would like to come but was afraid "something might happen." It was planned to have the great promoter drive up with Dempsey, formally introduce him and then return. It was estimated that the introduction would require five minutes at $100 a minute.

Undismayed the entertainment committee planning the farewell to President Harry O. Bentley Monday night in a dinner dance at Lima Club went the limit by wire and has secured at a fabulous price Miss Marjorie Maxwell, lyric soprano, of the Chicago Grand Opera company, with her accompanist, together with Neal Abel, humorist. The dinner setting will be in the north rooms of the lower floors of the club, with orchestra in the hallway. After dinner, Fridley's jazz band will open on the third floor for the dancers.

AIR MAIL LOST; PROBE IS ASKED

Postmaster General Burleson Requested to Explain in House Measure

WASHINGTON. — An investigation to determine by what authority mail not bearing airplane stamps is forwarded by an aerial route is asked in a resolution introduced in the house by Representative Steenerson, Minnesota, chairman of the committee on postoffices and post roads.

Postmaster General Burleson is requested to furnish information regarding the loss of mail by fire in an airplane route from Cleveland to Chicago.

The case at issue involves letters mailed by the Harriman National bank of New York to three Chicago financial institutions, the Federal Reserve bank, the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, and the Union Trust company. Included among the documents were drafts, checks and papers to the amount of $63,000.

TAKEN FROM TRAIN

According to the Harriman National bank officials the letters were not intended for airplane mail, but were taken from the train at Cleveland and forwarded the remainder of the way by airplane. The airplane caught fire and most of the mail was destroyed. This occurred May 24.

Correspondence made public discloses that J. W. Harriman, president of the Harriman National bank, made vain efforts to obtain any information from the postoffice department. Letters and telegrams sent to the postoffice department were unanswered.

One of the telegrams sent by Mr. Harriman to Postmaster General Burleson was as follows:

"By what authority has the post-office department the right to hazard bank mail in experiments? I consider it a high handed outrage. In any event, why was not the loss reported, so the banks could have an opportunity to protect themselves?"

In a letter to Senator Wadsworth, New York, Mr. Harriman said this seemed to be "a new Burleson game."

Short Shavings

A returning officer brought the following story from the fighting front. He was commandant of a colored soldiers' company. Inspecting his men shortly before they went over the top, he saw an implement, not provided for in regulations, swinging from a soldier's neck by a piece of string.

"What's this?" he demanded.
"Why, cap'n, boss, he's mah raz," said the soldier.
"Why is it suspended from your neck by a cord?"
"Ah may get to y'ey close quah-tels, cap'n, boss, an' ah'll have t' do 'twill be 't yank on d' raz. D' cord'll snap an' ah'll shore be ahmed."
"But you have your bayonet for close work, Hastus."
"Bayonet!" snarled Rastus. "Cap'n, boss, you jes let them's doan know how I fight wid a real weapon use do bayonet. If'n Ah'm 't be in a real fight, Ah wants a real weapon. Please, cap'n, boss, doan tak' mah raz' away."

"As to how?"
"Take the vaudeville performer, for instance. He has to stand on his head and play the violin as well.
"And there's the man in the restaurant window. He has to be a juggler as well as a cook.
"What are you going to say on this subject?"
"I am not saying what I am going to say," replied Senator Sorghum. "If I get to rehearsing it and talking it over, I might lose my nerve and not say some of it."

MISS YOUNG IS BACK IN THE MOVIES

Clara Kimball Young, whose films have been missing from the market for the past six months, while her contract was in the courts, has just signed a new contract with Select Pictures.

She will be seen shortly in a new film in which she has the part of a mountain girl in Tennessee.
A high degree of physical comeliness and the ability to wear Lady Duff Gordon models, as if she belonged in them, have in no wise impeded Miss Young's progress in the movies. Clothes, however, aren't a hit and miss proposition with Miss Young.

SAYS MISS YOUNG
"The way I dress has much to do with the success of my plays," she says. "Simplicity is the keynote of beauty in all things, but it's the expensive, subtle, costly kind—not the broad and butter simplicity of the school girl."
"We are fortunate to have come back to the lovely, slim swaying figure that is the rage today. I'm glad we have outlined those war days when every woman who could get her size wore a uniform, and the amount of khaki that was utilized would have driven the wild west wilder."
"I wear sheer, filmy fabrics whenever I can, and my street clothes are nearly always of the Greek type. The Greek idea in clothes is the most sane and beautiful one we have ever achieved. It will never die."
Clara was born in Chicago. She has been in the movies for seven years. Among her first successes was "Trilby." Her last release was "Cheating Cheaters."

AT HIS WOOD
Douglas Fairbanks led the Boy Scout parade last week at Los Angeles. At the end of the parade, he gave the boys a little talk and invited them to come out to his studio and make themselves at home.
The next morning, there wasn't space enough to make pictures. The scouts had accepted his invitation. They swarmed over the place, on the stage, climbing up on the sets, trying on his uniforms, and even riding his bucking horses.
Finally, a motorcycle cop drove into the studio and dispatched the youngsters off to school.

Black Sennett appreciates the appeal of animals as well as beautiful girls in pictures. His menagerie, headed by Teddy, the dog-star, includes a trained pelican, a rooster, several hens, mice, kitten, a seal, and a lion named Rollo.

AT A PREMIUM
New York studio space is at a premium these days. A number of big productions are ready to be started if companies could only find the room in which to produce.

The Biograph studios are jammed to the doors with companies working there, and all their space is under lease for months ahead. Other studios are all signed up for weeks in advance.

INTENSIVE FARMING
June Elvidge believes that the hack-to-the-land movement shouldn't stop just because the war has. So she has decided to raise an onion bed on the backyard of her suburban estate. The onion, she says, is doing nicely.

NOTES
Mildred Harris, wife of Charles Chaplin, has signed a long-term contract with Louis B. Mayer. She last appeared in "Borrowed Clothes."

Rex Beach is to produce all his future pictures in the east. He recently made a contract whereby it was agreed that under no consideration would he be called on to go to the coast again for producing.

Eddie Foy and his seven Foylets have returned from a vaudeville trip and will shortly begin a series of two-reel comedies for the National Film Corporation.

Selznick has recently signed contracts with the five big stars. They are: Elsie Janis, Eugene O'Brien, Olive Thomas, Elaine Hammerstein and Owen Moore.

Evelyn Nesbit, who recently completed her contract with William Fox, is to have her own producing organization.

LET EUROPE PAY HER DEBTS

By Richard Spillane
Frank A. Vanderlip reports there is a strong feeling in Europe that America should not ask for a repayment of a large proportion of the money debt Europe owes to the United States.
This debt approximates $10,000,000,000.

It is not unlikely the obligation of Belgium will be abated but if the British or French expect this country will do likewise in their cases they are likely to be disappointed.

There would be a terrific outburst of protest if any effort were made to excuse Great Britain paying.

Within the last six months there has been a cooling of our sentiment toward the British, especially in the east.

One of the causes is their attitude in regard to the German ships seized in American ports.

The British contend we should not retain these vessels or, rather, all of them, but that all enemy vessels captured or seized should be distributed among the nations that proportion to the losses their mercantile marine suffered.

What the British lose sight of is the fact that the quarrel or rivalry that caused the war was European and that in all probability the Germans would have triumphed and Great Britain today would be reduced to a second rate nation with comparatively little of a navy or of mercantile marine but for the help extended by America.

America lost more than 350,000 tons of merchant ships in the war. The German and Austrian ships seized by America aggregate 657,000 tons.

America gains in ships but the British attitude in this shipping matter and the report of Europe's notion that America should write off all or a goodly part of Europe's monetary debt to the United States makes it appear that Europe's sense of gratitude has been dulled.

GHOST ON RAMPAGE IN AN IRISH HOME

DUBLIN.—Hundreds of people are flocking to the home of a Protestant family, near Omagh, where the district is in a ferment as the result of destructive daylight raids by a "ghost." The trouble began last September when bricks began to fall were broken without visible agency. In the past few weeks the activities of the "ghost" have greatly increased. Windows are broken, pots smashed, bricks come tumbling down on the floor and disappear. While the frightened owner was looking at his clock the hand disappeared.

Stylish Corsets for Summer Wear

Summer time comfort depends almost entirely on the style of the corset that you wear. There are corsets that are too high, or too heavy, or too tight to be comfortable. But there are corssets, low bustled, light and flexible that are bound to insure comfort. Such a model you will find in our vast assortment of R. and G. Corsets.

A light weight sport girdle designed especially for athletics and bathing makes an ideal model to wear during this hot weather.

Some prefer a light weight corset in medium, or low bust or elastic top. These you will find in either back or front laced models, pink or white.

For Summer wear and dancing no better corset can be found than an R. and G. Their durability during hot weather is remarkable; their style is the best. There is a model made especially for your figure that will give you perfect satisfaction.

$1.25, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 and up to $5.00

She was only a member of the merry-merry in a Broadway musical-comedy, yet when she signed up with Cupid she was called upon for several big roles—The Petted Bride, The Jealous Wife, The Brute's Victim, The Cave-Lady and—for a grand finale—The Adoring Wife, once more. Some little repertoire, eh?
